Hi [REDACTED]

Thanks for your phone call last week about the above.
The current date (May 2016) is correct and the content refers to the previous testing of US product – however we intend to archive the current page and replace it with content that relates to the testing of Australian product. We will do that when the story ‘breaks’ which we understand via the ABC will be in a few weeks.
I trust this clarifies matters. We hope you will continue to have confidence that the FSANZ website will remain the ‘go to’ place on this issue.
Cheers
Glen
