This submitter believes that this issue is not a straightforward or simple issue for manufacturers due to the labelling provisions. Allowing 12 months for stock in trade turnover is not sufficient.

A transition time of 2 years i believe would be acceptable and workable for Industry during the transition time either 306 or 307b should be permissible on the packaging.

I have a number of clients with multiple SKU's and the label changes within 12 months would be very expensive for what is just essentially a code inconsistency.

Yours Sincerely

Laurence Eyres
